CONNECTIVITY MATTERS SUMMIT

TalkTalk Business invited over 200 of its Carrier and Partner customers to its Connectivity Matters Summit, a conference to champion connectivity.

Ministry of Sound's vibrant, brandable, and high-tech solutions complimented the vision for the conference. High-impact signage welcomed guests into the venue, with the LED wall in The 103 maintaining brand visibility throughout the course of the event.

The in-house events team worked directly with TalkTalk to ensure the summit went according to schedule. Throughout the course of the event, audience participation was encouraged with an event app, which, according to the app moderator, the application received the highest number of questions submitted compared to any other event.

The high-speed internet connection and collaboration technologies ensured that the technology conference went without a hitch.
